

WJEC AS Level Sociology Level 3

In a nutshell

This course provides an introduction and exploration into the study of sociology.

This course is for you if...

- ... You're curious about culture
- ... You want a better understanding of how society works
- ... You're self-motivated and hard working

What will I be doing?

AS Level

Unit 1: Acquiring culture provides an introductory core to sociology. You'll learn the meaning of 'culture' and how it is transmitted. We also study the families and culture option. This explores such topics as marriage, divorce and family diversity.

Unit 2: Understanding society and methods of sociological enquiry considers sociological research methods, looking at experiments, surveys and observations. We then study the sociology of education option. This includes such topics as the role of education and the impact of social class, ethnicity and gender on educational attainment.

A2 Level

Unit 3: Power and control. In this unit we study the crime and deviance option, which includes patterns of social distribution, definitions and official government statistics.

Unit 4: Social inequality and applied methods of sociological enquiry. This unit requires you to design, justify and evaluate a piece of sociological research. You'll also study social inequality, including social differentiation and stratification.

There is no coursework in this course. Both the AS and A2 assessment consists of two written examinations sat at the end of the year. Examinations are mainly essay based. Upon completion, you'll achieve:
