

WJEC AS Level English Language and Literature Level 3

In a nutshell

With a vibrant mix of research and practical written work, this course covers a wide range of English studies.

This course is for you if...

- ... You love to read and write.
- ... You enjoy analysing and discussing literature.
- ... You want a deeper understanding of the written word.

What will I be doing?

A Level English Language and Literature is a demanding but enjoyable subject, which allows plenty of scope for discussion and the development of your own ideas. It'll appeal to you if you enjoy reading books and discussing them with others, writing of all kinds and close analysis of fiction and non-fiction texts.

You'll study two units at AS and three units at A Level. Throughout the course you'll be taught the frameworks of language study and the skills required for close analytical reading. You'll learn to analyse and compare a variety of written and spoken texts and write some creative pieces.

At AS, you will study an anthology of pre-1914 poetry, George Orwell's Down and Out in Paris and London (non-literary text) and Peter Shaffer's Amadeus (drama). At A Level, you'll study Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing (drama), Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale (prose) and will produce a coursework folder of 2,500-3,500 words, inspired by a chosen literary genre – Gothic literature.

Full commitment to attendance is required, as is respect for others, enthusiasm for the subject and self-motivation. You'll be continually assessed and there is an expectation that you'll continue your studies and coursework during your own time.

Regular homework, class work test marks and mock examination grades will enable you to measure your progress. At AS Level, you'll be formally assessed by two summer examinations and, at A Level, by coursework and two summer examinations. Upon completion, you'll achieve:
